I read an earlier edition of Julia and the Bazooka years ago but this one is the best. The foreword by Virginia Ironside is excellent. Anna Kavan, as she chose to call herself, was a rare creature in the literary world -- a registered female heroin addict in England who was a brilliant, imaginative, hallucinatory writer.

'Julia and the Bazooka'
contains some of Kavan's most
compelling writing,
which owes much to
her personal
experiences -
especially her nearly lifelong addiction to heroin. An important
literary work, these stories highlight the
shadowed world of the
incurable drug addict
and probe the
psychological aspects
